Welcome to the July 2008 edition of the Radio HF Internet Newsletter. Just when you think you're about to get caught up, other things get in the way....like WORK, which I will explain in detail in a few moments! My work schedule continues to be very hectic and, as a result, this edition of the Newsletter is probably the latest it has ever been. You may notice a slightly shorter list of sites included in this edition due mainly to low input and my time restrictions this time around. Thanks for your patience and understanding. I hope to have everything back on track again next month.

In this month's Newsletter, the Monthly Special Zone features sites dealing with World Population Day and Special Olympics Day

I should take a few minutes to explain just what has been taking up so much of my time. Since March 2008 I have been working as a special administrative consultant at CKRK Radio, K-103 Radio (103.7 FM) at the Mohawk Native Reserve at Kahnawake, Quebec, south-west of Montreal. I was asked to come to the station by a member of the Board of Directors to assist them primarily with administrative re-organization of the station. CKRK is a community radio station which has been on the air for over 27 years, serving the Mohawk population of Kahnawake and the surrounding regions, including Montreal.

Since becoming active in the day to day operations of the station, I have worked closely with the programme director and the office manager to bring a series of new programmes to the airwaves and to bring a number of new, young, Native people on-board, working on-air, in production and behind the scenes at the station. It is exciting, challenging and rewarding work. The long hours and hard work of everyone involved is really paying off. So much so that the station would like to invite everyone, including readers of this Newsletter, to tune in and hear the results. Your comments would be greatly appreciated.

CKRK Radio, K-103 is heard in the Montreal region on 103.7 FM but, for the rest of you, it is also available, live streaming, through the K-103 website at http://www.k103radio.com. If you tune in at the right times, you'll even hear ME on the air! I am currently co-hosting three weekday evening shows with three of our new programme hosts, Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings from 6 PM to 8 PM Eastern (2200 to 0000 UTC). Details of these three shows, including the very unique "The Eagles Cries", a programme of music by indigenous artists from Canada and elsewhere, as well as the rest of the K-103 programme line-up, are detailed on the front page of the webpage. The full programme grid is available on the site at http://www.k103radio.com/guide.htm

Everyone at K-103 Radio would really love to hear from you. You can reach the station, with your comments, questions, etc. by e-mail at programming@...
Be sure to mention that you heard about K-103 Radio in the Radio HF Internet Newsletter. I really hope you will take a few minutes to check it out.

THE MONTHLY SPECIAL ZONE

WORLD POPULATION DAY

http://www.un.org/depts/dhl/population/

In 1968, world leaders proclaimed that individuals have a basic human right to determine freely and responsibly the number and timing of their children. Forty years later, modern contraception remains out of reach for hundreds of millions of women, men and young people. This year's World Population Day reaffirms the right of people to plan their families. It encourages activities, events and information that will help make this right real especially for those who often have the hardest time getting the information and services they need to plan their families, such as marginalized populations and young people.

SPECIAL OLYMPICS DAY

http://www.specialolympics.org/Special+Olympics+Public+Website/default.htm

Special Olympics is an international nonprofit organization* dedicated to empowering individuals with intellectual disabilities to become physically fit, productive and respected members of society through sports training and competition. Special Olympics offers children and adults with intellectual disabilities year-round training and competition in 30 Olympic-type summer and winter sports. (*Special Olympics is recognized as a tax-exempt organization under U.S. Internal Revenue Code Section 501(c)(3).)

WHERE IN THE WORLD ZONE

This month, we travel to Europe, to The Most Serene Republic of San Marino. San Marino is a country in the Apennine Mountains. It is a landlocked enclave, completely surrounded by Italy. One of the European microstates, San Marino has the smallest population of all the members of the Council of Europe and the 3rd highest GDP per capita in the world.

San Marino claims to be the oldest constitutional republic in the world and that it was founded on 3 September 301 by Marinus of Rab, a Christian stonemason fleeing the religious persecution of Roman Emperor Diocletian. San Marino's constitution, dating back to 1600, is the world's oldest written constitution still in effect.

Here are some other sites which will help you to learn more about San Marino.

DCI DIGITAL COMMUNICATIONS INC.

DCI Digital Communications specializes in Radio Frequency Interference (RFI) products, which reduce interference problems in the 30 MHz to 6 GHz range. Journalism Ethics for the Global Citizen at the University of British Columbia aims to study and improve journalism standards through discussion among journalists, academics and the public. The website, which launched in November 2005, is under the direction of faculty

We plan to stimulate discussion through research into news media, articles and online discussion. Our approach to journalism ethics is practical and interdisciplinary. Journalism ethics is a branch of professional (or applied) ethics addressing the issues that face practitioners in the field. The study of issues should draw on insights from all disciplines, from the natural and social sciences to philosophy and history. We are located at the UBC School of Journalism, and are financially supported by the UBC School of Journalism and the University of British Columbia.

DISCRETE-SIGNAL ANALYSIS AND DESIGN - by William E Sabin, W0IYH
This book provides an introduction to modern methods of discrete-time and discrete-frequency signal analysis and design, which are rapidly becoming an important approach in electronics projects. It helps experimenters, radio engineers and students to move beyond traditional continuous-signal pencil-and-paper methods. Designed for classroom learning as well as individual at-home study, the book employs undergraduate-level mathematics. It's written in an easy-to-follow, conversational style, with occasional re-examination and reinforcement of important basic concepts.

DON C. WALLACE: W6AM, AMATEUR RADIO'S PIONEER - by Jan David Perkins, N6AW
This book traces the life of Don Wallace, W6AM, and the early history of Amateur Radio. Don's experience with wireless in 1909 preceded government regulations or any form of licensing. Naval stations, commercial stations, ships at sea, and the first wireless experimenters all shared the same wavelengths.
Over the years, he would be the radio operator for a President, build the best Amateur Radio station in the country, write a shortwave book, set the standards of operating achievement for many amateurs, share the podium with the most prominent amateurs of the era, build the largest and most powerful Amateur Radio station in the world, and be the role model for many of the young men entering the hobby. Although always a hobby to Don, many of the leaders of the radio industry came to know and respect him. The word always used to describe Don and his attitude toward the wireless hobby was "enthusiasm."
